ABSTRACT

All institutions in Pennsylvania having upper-division or post-baccalaureate enrollments in the fall of 1975 responded to this survey. The report is divided into three parts: upper-division undergraduate enrollments; master's and higher degree enrollments; and first-professional degree enrollments in selected major fields. The data are reported almost entirely in tabular form. (LBH)

HIGHLIGHTS

The 1975 fall enrollment data for upper-division undergraduates indicate:

* that 114,834 students were enrolled at 106 institutions in Pennsylvania.

* that there were 101,186 full-time students and 13,648 part-time students.

* that the combined enrollments of the state-owned and state-related institutions accounted for 51.8 per cent of all upper-division enrollments.

The 1975 fall enrollment data on master's and higher degree enrollments indicate:

* a total enrollment of 50,642 students, an increase of 1.8 per cent.

* increases in both full-time and part-time enrollment of 1.1 per cent and 2.1 per cent respectively.

* that part-time students, representing 62.1 per cent of the total enrollment, increased by 0.3 per cent.

* a decrease of 3.5 per cent in the total enrollment in the field of education and a 16.3 per cent increase in the total enrollment in the field of business and management.

The 1975 fall enrollment data in first-professional degree programs indicate:

* that total first-professional enrollment in eight major fields increased 3.0 per cent to 13,721.

* that increases were reported in all of the eight selected major fields. The largest percentage increase was reported in podiatry with 21.2 per cent and the largest numerical increase was reported in theology with 124 students.

* that the field of medicine (M.D. degree) had the largest first-professional enrollment with 4,206 students.

FOREWORD

This publication is the third issue of Volume XIII of Our Colleges and Universities Today. The several publications are designed to provide statistical data and trends for all institutions of higher education in Pennsylvania. All institutions having upper-division or post-baccalaureate enrollments responded to this survey. However, Cheyney State College was unable to provide a distribution of their upper-division enrollment by discipline division. Estimates for Cheyney State College are provided in totals only but not distributed by discipline.

Prior to this issue, number three of Our Colleges and Universities Today was entitled "Students Enrolled for Advanced Degrees at Pennsylvania Institutions of Higher Education, Fall 1974." However, the addition of data on upper-division enrollments necessitated the change in title to "Upper-Division and Post-Baccalaureate Enrollments at Pennsylvania Institutions of Higher Education, Fall 1975."

The data were obtained directly from the institutions on schedules supplied by the National Center for Education Statistics. Appreciation is extended to the responsive and cooperative group of higher education officials who are assisting in the continuous development of the Department of Education's higher education data system.

Inquiries relative to these data should be directed to the Division of Education Statistics, Bureau of Information Systems, Department of Education, Box 911, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania 17126.

PART I

UPPER-DIVISION UNDERGRADUATE ENROLLMENT, FALL 1975

Pennsylvania's institutions of higher education enrolled 114,834 upper-division students for fall 1975. This figure differs slightly (0.4 per cent) from the 115,302 reported in Volume XIII of Our Colleges and Universities Today, "Summer and Fall College Enrollments in Pennsylvania, 1975" primarily, because of a difference in reporting dates for each survey. The later reporting date of November 30 for the upper-division survey as compared to the October 15 due date for the opening fall survey allowed additional time for enrollments to stabilize.

Cheyney State College was unable to provide enrollment by discipline, therefore, estimates were added to totals only but were not distributed by discipline for tables 2 and 3.

Full-time enrollments represented 88.1 per cent of the total with 101,186 students while part-time enrollments accounted for the remaining 11.9 per cent, or 13,648 students.

Public institutions enrolled 51.8 per cent of all upper-division undergraduates with 59,437. Private institutions enrolled 48.2 per cent, or 55,397 students.

A ranking of the five largest disciplines showed education enrolled the largest number of students with 19,559 or 17.2 per cent of all upper-division undergraduates. Business and management enrolled the second largest with 18,284, or 16.0 per cent, followed by the social studies with 13,802, or 12.1 per cent; health professions 7,358, or 6.5 per cent; engineering 7,196, or 6.3 per cent.

The sum of these five disciplines represented over 58.0 per cent of all upper-division students.

The graph on page 16 shows a discipline comparison of the upper-division enrollment to the graduate enrollment with breakdowns for full- and part-time enrollments for fall 1975.

PART II

MASTER'S AND HIGHER DEGREE ENROLLMENTS, FALL 1975

The total number of master's and higher degree enrollments increased somewhat to 50,642 for fall 1975 at Pennsylvania's institutions of higher education. The 50,642 students represented an increase of 1.8 per cent over the 49,768 students reported for last year.

Both the number of full-time students and part-time students increased for 1975. Part-time enrollment increased 2.1 per cent, while full-time enrollment increased 1.1 per cent. The increase in full-time enrollment was the first increase since fall 1971. The 2.1 per cent increase in part-time enrollment continued the trend started in 1972 of an increasing number of part-time students.

The number of students enrolled in the discipline of education decreased slightly to 18,391 for 1975. This 3.5 per cent decrease in education was the combination of a 6.6 per cent decrease in the number of full-time students and 2.8 per cent decrease in the number of part-time students.

Changes reported in the other disciplines showed that business and management increased 910 students to 6,479, a 16.3 per cent increase over the 5,569 reported in 1974. Both social studies and letters showed significant decreases, with 4.4 per cent and 7.1 per cent respectively when compared to similar data for 1974.

The state-related commonwealth universities enrolled the largest number of students with 18,849, or 37.2 per cent. Other categories were as follows: private colleges and universities 13,380, or 26.4 per cent; state-owned institutions 8,959, or 17.7 per cent; private state-aided institutions 8,859, or 17.5 per cent and theological seminaries 595, or 1.2 per cent.

PART III

FIRST-PROFESSIONAL DEGREE ENROLLMENTS IN SELECTED MAJOR FIELDS, FALL 1975

Total first-professional enrollments in the eight selected major fields increased 3.0 per cent to 13,721 students for fall 1975.

Except for dentistry and law, where slight increases occurred, all fields recorded significant increases for this year. Podiatry showed the largest percentage increase, while theology recorded the largest numerical increase.

Medicine continued to enroll the largest number of students with 4,206 or 30.7 per cent.

A summary of the eight professions appears below:

Subject Field	Institutions Reporting	Total Enrollment	Change
			Number	Per Cent

APPENDIX

Definitions

DOCTOR'S DEGREE--A degree normally based on at least three years of graduate work beyond the bachelor's degree, usually granted as a Ph.D. in any field, or doctor of education, doctor of juridical science, doctor of public health, etc.

ENROLLED STUDENT--A student enrolled for an advanced degree on the main campus, on a branch campus or in an extension center during the fall term 1975. Specifically excluded are advanced degree candidates NOT FORMALLY enrolled during the fall of 1975; graduate students in curricula that do not terminate in an advanced degree; special, unclassified and post-doctoral students; and students at branches or extensions in foreign countries.

FIRST-PROFESSIONAL DEGREE--A degree signifying the completion of the academic requirements for selected professions, based on programs that require at least two academic years of previous college work for entrance and require a total of at least six academic years of college work for completion. Examples are: professional degrees in dentistry (D.D.S. or D.M.D.), law (LL.B. or J.D.), medicine (M.D.), theology (B.D.), veterinary medicine (D.V.M.), podiatry (D.P.), optometry (O.D.) and osteopathy (D.O.). A student receiving a first-professional degree may continue his studies and later receive a master's and doctor's degree in the same field of study.

FULL-TIME STUDENT--A student whose academic load in terms of course work or other activity (such as a thesis) is at least 75 per cent of that normally expected of such students.

GRADUATE STUDENT--A student who holds a baccalaureate or first-professional degree, or equivalent, and is presently enrolled in a program which leads to a master's or higher degree.

MASTER'S DEGREE--A degree customarily based on at least one year of graduate work beyond the bachelor's degree.

UPPER-DIVISION STUDENT--A student who has completed more than one-half of a 4-year, or more than two-fifths of a 5-year, undergraduate program which terminates in a degree, usually measured by the number of credits earned as a proportion of the number of credits required for graduation.
